DEATH TAKES FRANK SMITH

FOR 62 YEARS CONDUCTED A DRUG STORE IN YPSILANTI.

Last Sunday evening occurred the death of J. Frank Smith at his home, 19 North Normal street, Mr. Smith, had he lived until Feb. 23, would have been 87 years old. For 62 years he conducted a drug store at 104 Michigan avenue, the store now occupied by Pierce Bros. grocery. About three years ago, due to failing health, he gave up and retired from active business. For over a year he has been confined to his bed.

Mr. Smith came to Ypsilanti shortly after his graduation from Dartmouth college in 1857 and entered into the drug business with a brother, Julius W. Smith, and his brother-in-law, Dr. Amasa Kinney, the firm name at that time being Kinney & Smith. A short time afterwards he succeeded to the ownership. During all the years he could be found at his post serving his patrons and doing his bit for the city in which he lived.

In 1858 he was united in marriage to Miss Miriam Converse, of Lyme, New York state, who died in 1900. Three daughters, Miss Laura, of this city; Mrs. Charles S. Coryell, of Toronto; Mrs. E. S. Corwin, of Princeton, N. Y.; and two sons, Warren, of Ann Arbor, and Frank, of Toronto, are left to mourn the loss of a father and a respected citizen.

The funeral services were held from the home Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. Carl H. Elliott, of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Burial was made in Highland cemetery.

COURT DECIDES NO CAUSE FOR ACTION

The case of Fred Schantz vs. George Bischoff was tried Tuesday before Justice Stadtmiller. Schantz claimed that Bischoff owed him for unloading a carload of coal at Ann Arbor. The defense of Bischoff was that he had been made garnishee defendant in a suit and that when he was in court before Justice Thomas at Ann Arbor he testified that he did not know whether he owed the money to George Schantz or Fred Schantz and left it for Justice Thomas to decide. It was then decided Feb. 11 that the money was owing to George Schantz and Bischoff paid it into court.

Justice Stadtmiller decided that Fred Schantz has no cause of action and that his remedy was to appeal from the decision of Justice Thomas, which he failed to do with the usual five days.

CORPORATIONS GET EXTENSION ON TAXES

A general extension of time for the filing of income tax returns was granted corporations Thursday by Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair.

Corporations are given up to June 15 under the new treasury decision for completing returns of income for the calendar year 1921, the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1922, and the fiscal year ending Feb. 28, 1922. The extension is conditioned upon corporations filing tentative returns by March 15, April 15 and May 15, 1922, according to the yearly basis used, accompanied by one-fourth of the estimated amount of the tax due.

Extension in the time for filing corporation income tax returns was granted, officials said, because of the delay in the preparation of new treasury regulations covering income and profits taxes. These regulations, which will cover payment of these taxes under the new revenue law, are expected to be ready about March 1.

WORK TO START ON RACE TRACK THIS WEEK

Officers of the Washtenaw County Fair association are busy these days whipping into shape the grounds for the fair this fall. The contract for the construction of the race track has been let to the Koch Construction company of Ann Arbor for $8,400, and it is expected that they will start work on the track the middle of March and will have it completed by May 15. The contract calls for the removal of 20,000 yards of dirt at 37 cents per yard and the spreading of 2,600 yards of black loam at 39 cents per yard.

The new drain from the grounds to the Dexter road, connecting with the city system, has been completed and work on the ground drainage will start this week. This work must be done before the work on the track can be started.

BOARD OF COMMERCE SENDS CONDOLENCE

Rev. Father Dillon, of St. John's Catholic church, on Sunday read a letter that was received by him from Olin C. Eckley, managing secretary of the Ypsilanti Board of Commerce. Following is the letter. "I am directed by President Van de Walker to convey to you, and through you to the bereaved family and also to your congregation, the deep loss which the city of Ypsilanti feels in the death of Father Kennedy. It will be a distinct loss to the civic life of our city and one from which we shall not soon recover. Rarely is a community privileged to have leaders of such outstanding attainments as this worthy spiritual leader. He was a delightful spirit of whom any city might well be proud."

Father Dillon stated that a monument was on foot to have a suitable monument erected in honor of Father Kennedy and that his friends throughout the state would be given an opportunity to contribute.

HARD TIMES PARTY.

The "hard times" party given Tuesday evening at the Prospect school was the best of the season and was largely attended. The costumes were certainly seedy looking as well as comical. No more parties will be given until after the Easter vacation.

YPSILANTI'S PROPOSED NEW 60-ROOM HOSTELRY

The opening statement of the executive committee in charge of the campaign on the sale of stock in the proposed new hotel is made today. The statement of the committee appears elsewhere in this issue of The Record and here is given the picture showing the design of the proposed 60-room building, which, it is planned, shall be erected at the corner of Pearl and Washington streets.

In the opening negotiations, carried on by the hotel committee of the Board of Commerce more than a year ago, it was important that wise counsellors should be secured. Information from authoritative sources established the fact that H. L. Stevens & Co. of Chicago were not only merely the most prominent firm in the central states dealing exclusively in hotel construction, but more than a dozen letters endorsed their work in planning and building hotels "which were successful from the standpoint of operating profit." After a careful analysis of the local field it was their advice that to pay it should have not to exceed 60 rooms. The plans, however, provide for a foundation which can carry an additional floor of 19 rooms. Every part of the building is designed to require minimum supervision and to produce maximum financial return. The reputation of this firm rests largely upon the fact that their hotels are successful hotels and that they did not "build too large a structure for the town." Moreover, the committee in charge of this work was gratified to learn that the rental charges as per schedule were exceedingly reasonable, being on the basis of $1.50 per room without bath and $2.50 per room with bath. Two statements have thus far not been contradicted: first, that the commercial traveler will seek good accommodations, and, second, that the tourist will seek a desirable hotel.

An operating statement has been prepared to show what might reasonably be expected from such a hotel as to receipts and expenditures. The expenditures are the result of observation over a number of hostels in cities of somewhat the same size, and the receipts are believed to be conservative in view of the fact that they provide for 30 per cent vacancies and do not schedule any "double occupancies" which materially increase the amount per room. This statement is given herewith as prepared by H. L. Stevens & Co.

The week of March 14 to 21 has been chosen for the conducting of a campaign which will have for its object the selling of 2,000 shares of common stock at the par value of $100 per share. The stock selling drive will be under the direction of an executive committee composed of the following prominent local men:

H. E. Van de Walker, general chairman.
F. F. Bennett.
A. O. Beyer.
R. B. Haig.
G. C. Kennedy.
A. E. Lewis.
C. R. Pullen.
D. L. Quirk, Jr.
M. M. Read.

This is one of the best positions that the city has to offer and speaks well for the ability of Mr. Rieder and the Normal conservatory.

REPRESENTATIVE WARNER FAVORS TAXING BONDS

Joseph E. Warner, state representative, has come out in favor of taxing bonds that are now tax exempt. He said: "I am in favor of taxing all of the income from all intangible property such as bonds, mortgages and other securities. There is no more reason to exempt these bonds from taxation than there is to exempt farm or business property. That is why men are taking their money out of industrial activities and investing it in tax-exempt bonds. A tax of one-half of one per cent should be levied."

Representative Warner is a candidate for re-election and it looks as if he would have no serious opposition.

ANN ARBOR TO MAKE FIGHT FOR ITS WATER

Monday morning in circuit court a suit was started against the city of Ann Arbor by 20 land owners of Pittsfield township to enjoin that city from operating a pumping station on the Steere farm, located three miles south of the city. In addition to the injunction damages are also asked for alleged damages to crops and the fertility of the land in the section where the wells are located.

It is claimed by the farmers that before the city put down these wells and started pumping the land was plentifully supplied with flowing wells of underground water capable of cultivation; that the city wells have drawn all the moisture out of the ground and the land is of that nature that it must have plenty of moisture to insure good crops; that now the land is practically valueless and dries out quickly.

Prior to 1915 the city of Ann Arbor was getting its water supply from the Huron river. They purchased the Steere farm for the purpose of water supply and at the present time are pumping about two million gallons per day. There have been several attempts through the courts to stop this supply but so far the matter has not been decided.

Attorney Arthur Brown will look after the plaintiffs' side of the case and Attorney Martin J. Cavanaugh will look after the city's interests.

This will be a branch of the State Farm Bureau and will handle the sale and disposition of farm produce such as garden vegetables, fruits, eggs, dressed pork, veal calves and some potatoes.

The general plan is to receive the produce from the individual farmer or local co-operative association in the Detroit area. A special meeting of Washtenaw county farmers will be held Saturday afternoon, March 4, at 1:30 o'clock, Eastern Standard time at the Y. M. C. A., Ann Arbor, for the purpose of considering the details of this new sales department as it will be presented by Mr. Milton Carmichael, who has been very active in promoting the organization.

Every farmer interested in the marketing of the produce mentioned above will find it to their interest to attend this meeting.

FINE NEW PLACE OF BUSINESS.

Wednesday afternoon the new Wenzel store on Michigan avenue was revealed to the public. For weeks a false front has hid to the public eye just what was going on in the way of remodeling this building. To say that the results were all that could be expected would be putting it mild. With its new platform glass and fine interior decorations it gives Ypsilanti another building on this street that is a credit to the city. Mr. Wenzel is to be congratulated in this effort and it is hoped that it may have a good influence on some other owner of business blocks on this street to do a little in the way of making their buildings look a little more presentable to the public.

KIWANIS HEAR TALK BY VANDEWALKER

Hugh E. Van de Walker was the speaker at the Kiwanis club noon day luncheon at Ann Arbor Monday. His talk dealt with the boys' week to be held throughout the country April 30 to May 7.

Organizations which build character like the Boy Scouts, Mr. Van de Walker stated, are great powers for the future of humanity and society in general. Boys' week, he said, would be devoted to seven days of work among the boys of each community.

Sunday, April 30, every minister, rabbi and priest is to be asked to preach a sermon relative to the responsibility of father and son to the community and country in general. "A sermon of this kind," the speaker said, "would be an excellent beginning of a week during which attention would be directed and focused on the boys of the nation."

Monday, it is planned, will be boys' day at school; Tuesday, boys' day in industry, and in this manner each day of the week will be given over to special sort of work among boys. Kiwanians were told, Saturday will end the week with boys day at home, when they will be entertained by their fathers.

LEGION NEWS

The adjusted compensation bill as it now stands provides for:

1. Cash benefit based on length of service, amount paid to any veteran not to exceed $625.
2. Adjusted service certificate plan equivalent to a 20 year paid up insurance policy.
3. Vocational training which would enable thousands of disabled to earn their own livelihood.
4. Farm and home aid.
5. Land settlement.

Of 590,000 men Canada sent to war more than 25,000 have already been placed on government land under a loan and subsidy system, and 25,000 more are making arrangements for same.

This option seems equally popular with the buddies who are anxiously watching the progress of the compensation bill and praying for its success.

The country that has extended help to the utmost to the railroad and its ocean shipping would find the aid extended under the five options of the adjusted compensation bill the best investment it ever made.

Mr. and Mrs. Wireless Telegraph take pleasure in announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Radio Phone, to General Use.

Radio phones have been found especially attractive gifts to military hospitals, as they are a source of entertainment to the "buddies." Recently disabled soldiers at Fox Hills (New York) hospital, listened to church services over the radio phone.

"The brute. Why don't they jail him?"

"Oh, I mean he has been getting up first and cooking the breakfast in the morning."

SATURDAY NIGHT WORTH SEEING ANY NIGHT

Cecil B. DeMille's big production, "Saturday Night," was finished one Wednesday night.

Sounds a bit confusing, doesn't it? But from the time Mr. DeMille announced the title of his latest Paramount picture confusion was the order of the day around the Lasky studio at Hollywood, Calif.

"What are you doing Friday night?" one actor would ask another.

"I'm working on 'Saturday Night'."

"I don't care what you do Saturday night. I am talking about Friday night."

"And I told you in plain English that I am working Friday night on 'Saturday Night,' and I can't accept your invitation."

"You're working Friday night on 'Saturday Night'? Say, are you crazy or am I? Now, listen here: quit this nonsense and tell me: are you working on Friday night?"

"I'm not crazy. I told you and I'll tell you again: I'm working Friday night on 'Saturday Night'."

"Oh! Then come over next week."

No matter on what night the public sees "Saturday Night" at the Martha Washington theatre next Sunday they will be assured of an enjoyable evening. If you can't see "Saturday Night" on Saturday night try to be on hand any night during the run, Sunday, Monday or Tuesday night.

HOW ISRAEL PUTNAM OUT- WITTED THE INDIAN "BEAR"

In 1758, while General Lyman's army was encamped near Fort Edward, N. Y., during the French and Indian war, sentinels at one outpost began to disappear mysteriously. Night after night a soldier was posted there and the next morning could not be found.

Only the bravest men in the army were selected for this post. General Lyman gave orders for them to call out "Who goes there?" three times, if they heard any noise, and then if no answer came, to fire. But the disappearances continued until his men were panic-stricken and refused to take such a dangerous station.

At last Israel Putnam, a member of Major Rogers' rangers, volunteered to go on guard at that place and solve the mystery. One hot summer night he heard a rustling in the leaves near-by. The sounds were those of an animal scuffling about on the ground for food and, peering through the darkness, Putnam saw by the faint starlight a huge creature, which he recognized as a bear, slowly shambling toward him.

Something in the bear's gait aroused the scout's suspicion. Putnam obeyed the general's orders. He challenged three times and then fired. A loud groaning and struggling noise followed and when the scout rushed forward he found the bear in its death agony. Then he turned the animal over. Enclosed in the shaggy skin, still clutching a tomahawk but stone dead, lay a giant Indian.

The mystery was solved. The other sentinels had believed it was a real bear they heard and allowed the daring warrior to get near enough to use his tomahawk before they learned their mistake. No more sentinels disappeared.

Some time after this event, Putnam was captured by the Indians, who started to burn him at the stake. Just as the flames began to scorch his buckskin garments, a heavy rain began to fall and put out the fire. The savages collected more dry wood and again began the torture. But again they were foiled.

A French officer appeared upon the scene, dashed through the ring of flame, kicked the blazing brands right and left and released the scout, telling the Indians that he must send Putnam to Montreal to be questioned by General Montcalm. Putnam was held in Canada until an exchange of prisoners allowed him to return to his home and he lived to become a famous general in the Revolution.

DEPARTMENT WARNS AGAINST PNEUMONIA

Pneumonia is the disease to be watched out for most carefully at the present time, warns the state department of health.

During the first 24 days of February 684 cases of pneumonia were reported throughout the state, compared to 519 during the corresponding period last year and an average of 493 for the past 10 years.

In January 759 cases were reported, an increase of 165 cases over January, 1921, and nearly twice the average number for the month.

"To avoid pneumonia," advises Dr. R. M. Olin, commissioner of health, "avoid colds and exposure to sickness. The organism causing acute lobar pneumonia is always ready at this time of the year, waiting until we are at low ebb physically for a chance to invade and lay waste the body's fortifications. Other forms of the disease, the bronchopneumonias or secondary infections, are the mopping-up squads of neglected colds and common sicknesses."

"If a person contracts a cold it should never be regarded contemptuously. The individual who is feeling 'not quite well' will conserve time and health by complete relaxation and rest. In fact, a thorough rest indulged in early enough may prevent pneumonia. Even if pneumonia does develop, the rest will have helped to conserve the body's resistance, every ounce of which will be needed before the patient recovers."

"Finally: Dress to suit the thermometer and not the calendar; eat heartily and wisely; sleep with the windows open, and ventilate the house several times daily."

Hupmobile Dealer
Wanted in This Town

Here is a splendid opportunity for some live-wire in this community.

You may be a motor car dealer, a garage proprietor, or you may be in some business having nothing to do with automobiles.

Whatever your line,—if you are a hustler and a sound business man, we want to hear from you.

Our proposition practically assures exceptional profits to such a dealer.

We have a definite, specific plan of co-operation which helps you locate, and sell, prospects.

Why We Make This Offer

Until this year, the entire Hupmobile production has been absorbed by the metropolitan centers.

Greatly increased factory production now enables us to supply the great potential demand for this outstanding car in every town in Michigan.

There are many prospects in your territory. They want such a car as the Hupmobile—a really fine car that sells for $1250 f. o. b. factory—but they have never been approached.

This is your opportunity. Your sales territory is beautifully fallow.

Our discount rate is much more liberal than that ordinarily offered. No back-breaking requirements—nothing but what will enhance your bank standing.

In addition you will have the advantage of dealing with one of the largest motor car distributors in Michigan.

Send in a letter or post card now, at once, and find out all about our proposition without the slightest obligation.

Reasonable bank credit and moderate initial investment required.

SHELDON

The Ladies' Aid society gave a variety shower in the hall in honor of Mrs. Clara Mott Sloss, who was married Feb. 15, last Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5. The tables were beautifully decorated. The color scheme of white and pink was carried out. Japanese parasols of white and pink hung over each table, with ribbons of white and pink to each place card, wedding bells over the bride's table and large bride cake frosted with white and pink heart in center and pink and white roses around it. Only the relatives sat at the bride's table. There were 60 present. She received many beautiful presents of silver, linen, Pyrex ware, aluminum, money, etc. They are keeping house in Wayne in his mother's home.

The Milk Men's association held a meeting in the hall Wednesday. The Ladies' Aid changed their dinner from Thursday to Wednesday, March 1, on that account.

Several from here attended the Foster sale Monday.

Charles Curtis is driving an Olds sedan.

The Dramatic club met at the church last Thursday evening.

Wm. Graden and family will move to Wayne from the John Wiles farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Smith are expecting to soon go to house, keeping in their new home on Artley road.

John Robbe expects to work the farm of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Ella Winters, this year.

Wm. Franklin and son, George, expect to make maple syrup this year, as they tapped their trees last Monday.

HOW TO MAKE YOUR SKIN FRESH AND CLEAR

Every woman passes as pretty if only her skin is fresh, smooth and young. It is within the power of every woman to possess this attraction to make her complexion as beautiful as she longs for it to be.

The secret? Cleopatra knew and practiced it in the days of ancient Egypt. She observed a daily ceremonious cleansing. The cleansers she used were the same you may have today, Palm and Olive oils.

These beautifying oils are scientifically blended in famous Palmolive Soap. They give it mildness, wonderful soothing qualities, profuse, creamy and refreshing lather.

Cleansing with Palmolive is a beauty treatment in itself. No woman should say her skin is too sensitive to use soap until she has tried Palmolive.

The attractive green cake, the natural color of the oils, is within the reach of every one who appreciates that cleanliness is the greatest beautifier.

You can buy Palmolive Soap at all first class groceries and drug stores.

MAY MOVE FREIGHT OFFICE.

It is again rumored that the D. U. R. will vacate their office and freight depot on Washington street. About ever so often this rumor gains ground and then nothing more comes of it. There is no question but that their present quarters are congested and that the D. U. R. people need more room to take care of their freight business. The present site is very desirable for a business block and no doubt some would be built if they vacate these premises.

You will be pleased to note the very unusual values in Gowns this spring. It is really remarkable the prices that are placed on desirable dresses.

For instance—There are chic, pretty Taffetas as low as $19.75 in really fine grade silk. The styles are very fetching. Then there are a large number of the season's latest models in copies of French models at $25 and $29.50.

If you should prefer more exclusive designs the Robertson gowns with their Davis designing and exquisite workmanship will make a direct appeal. They can be had this year from $25 to $69, and are supplemented by various other manufacturers who have similar ideals of beauty and quality—ideals that you will agree with us are none too common today.

THE GIRL, A HORSE AND A DOG.

out the privilege of dying in a good, old-fashioned, stand-up fight.

All of this I hastily pointed out to Daddy Hiram, adding that, for Jeanie's sake, if for no better reason, he ought to take his chance of staying upon earth. As long as I live I shall always have a high respect for the wrath of a mild-mannered man. The old prospector was fairly Berserk, mad, foaming at the mouth, and short of dragging him out by main strength there was no way of making him let go.

"No, sir; I done promised your gran'paw 'at I'd stand by for him, and he paid me money for doin' it. When them hellions get this here mine, they're goin' to dig a hole somewheres and bury me afterward," was all I could get out of him.

We were not given very much more time for discussion, or for anything else. The first faint gray dawn was coming, and with the partial lighting of the inner gloom, we craned our necks—like a double-headed turtle peering out of its shell—and got a glimpse of the damage done by the initial thunderbolt. We saw it without any trouble: a great hole torn in the sheetiron roof directly over the hoist and shaft mound. Knowing the use and effect of explosives pretty well, Daddy said that the bomb had gone off prematurely; had exploded before it had fairly lighted upon the roof.

"If it hadn't—if it had been layin' on the roof when it went off—we wouldn't be lookin' up at that hole right now, Stannie, my son. We'd be muggin' up the golden stair and wonderin' how much farther it was to the New Jerusalem, and what kind o' harps they was goin' to give us when we got there. We sure would."

We didn't keep our heads out very long. While we were staring up at the hole and at the patch of sky beyond it, a small dark object with a smoke-blue comet's tail trailing behind it crossed our line of sight, and we ducked and held our breath—or at least, I held mine. The crash came almost immediately, and it was followed in swift succession by a second and a third. Luckily, none of the three hit the shaft-house, nor, indeed, fell very near to it; and this uncertainty of aim told us where the attack was coming from. The bomb throwers were posted somewhere on the steep slope of the mountain above us; the slope which I have described as running up from the brink of the abrupt cliff overlooking the mine plant.

"They'll get the range, after a while," Daddy grunted. "And when they do, I reckon it'll be good-by, fair world, for a couple of us and one mighty good dog. I'm a-tellin' you, Stannie, son, the shot that comes down through that hole fixes us a-plenty. Sufferin' Methusalem! what-all is the folks down yonder at 'Tropia a-dreamin' about, to let all this bangin' and whangin' go on up here without comin' up to find out what's makin' it?"

The Atropia that I remembered was so nearly moribund that I didn't wonder it wasn't making any stir in our behalf; so, when a few pattering rifle shots which seemed to originate on the great bench below began to sift in among the bomb echoes, I took it that Bullerton had divided his force and was trying to rattle us two ways at once. As for that, however, the bigger bombardment kept us from speculating very curiously upon anything else. Two more of the giant crackers had fallen to the right of us, one of them into the wreck of the blacksmith shop, to send up a spouting volcano of scrap which fell a second or so later in a thunderous rain; and then...

For a flitting instant it seemed as if it must drop squarely in front of the iron shield under which we were jammed—in which case even the undertaker wouldn't have been needed—not any whatsoever, as Daddy Hiram would have said. But at the critical point in its flight the hurtling thing "ticked" the top of the hoist frame and its downward course was deflected the needed hair's-breadth, causing it to come down beyond the machinery and not on our side of things.

Nevertheless, we were cowering in anticipation of a blast which would most likely leave the entire machinery aggregation over bodily upon us when the explosion came.

We saw the belching column of flame and gas going skyward beyond the machinery barrier, taking a full half of the roof with it, as if the blast had come from the mouth of a gigantic cannon. We were dazed and deafened by the shock, and half choked by the fumes, but neither of us was so far gone as not to hear distinctly a prolonged and rumbling crash like the thunder of a small Niagara, coming after the smash!

"The shaft!" shrieked Daddy Hiram, in a thin, choked voice; "it went off down in the shaft! And, say!—what-all's that we're a-listenin' to now!"

If there had been a dozen of the bombs raining down I don't believe the threat of them would have kept us from bursting out of our dodge-hole to go and see what had happened in the mine shaft. But before we could determine anything more than that the mouth of the shaft was completely hidden under a mass of wreckage, and that the mysterious Niagara roar, dwindled somewhat, but yet hollowly audible, was still going on under the concealing mass of broken timbers and sheet-iron, there was a masterful interruption. Shots, yells, shoutings and hot curses told us that a fierce battle of some kind was staging itself just outside of our wrecked fortress; whereupon Daddy Hiram began pawing his way to the door, yelling like a man suddenly gone dotty.

"That there's old Ike Beasley—dad-blame his old hide!" he chattered. "There ain't nary 'nother man in the Timmyonits 'at can cuss like that. He's come with a posse, and they're layin' out Charley Bullerton's crowd!"

There was a fine little tableau spreading itself out for us when we had clambered over the wreckage and had withdrawn the wooden bar and flung the door wide. Daddy Hiram had called the turn and named the trump. The large, desperadoish-looking man who had once interviewed me at Angels, and a little later had paused in his combing of the mountains in search of me to usurp my place at the Twombly's breakfast table, this bewhiskered giant, with a goodish bunch of followers—hard-boiled to a man, they looked to be—had surrounded a fair half of the would-be "jumpers" and were handcuffing them with a celerity that was truly admirable. And Beasley, himself, square-jawed and prepotent, was shoving Bullerton up against the side of the shaft-house, snapping the irons upon his wrists and counseling him, with choice epithets intermingled, to save up his troubles and tell them to the judge.

As we emerged from our wrecked fortress, other members of the posse were scattering to round up the outlying bomb-throwers, who had apparently taken to the tall timber in a panic-stricken effort to escape. Down on the bench below there were horses and horse-holders; and among the horses one whose boyish-looking rider was just slipping from the saddle. While I was wondering vaguely why the Angels town marshal had let a mere boy come along on such a battle errand, the boyish figure ran up the road and darted in among us to fling itself into Daddy Hiram's arms, gurgling and half crying and begging to be told if he was hurt.

I didn't know at the time how much or how little the big marshal knew of the various and muddled involvements which were climaxing right there in the early morning sunshine on the old Cinnabar dump head; but I do know that he quickly turned his captures over to some of his deputies and had them promptly hustled down stage and off scene. While this was going on I was merely waiting for my cue, and I got it, or thought I got it when the boy who wasn't a boy slipped from Daddy's arms and faced me.

"I'm not hurt, either," I ventured to say, hoping that the brain storm had subsided sufficiently to make me visible. "Welcome home, Miss Twombly—or should I say Mrs. Bullerton?"

The look she gave me was just plain deadly; you wouldn't think that violet-blue eyes could do it, but they can. Then she drew a folded paper from somewhere inside of her clothes and held it out to me.

"There is the deed to your mine, Mr. Broughton," she said nippingly, and with a fairly tragical emphasis on the courtesy title. "You wouldn't take the trouble to go to Copah and get it recorded, so I thought I'd better do it. I hope you'll pardon me for being so forward and meddlesome."

It was the super-climax of the entire Arabian-Nights business, and because my feelings would no longer be denied their rightful fling, I sat down on the shaft-house doorstep and shouted and laughed like a fool. But after all, it was Mr. Isaac Beasley, deputy sheriff and marshal of Angels, who put the weather-vane, so to speak, upon the fantastic structure.

"I been lookin' 'round for you a right smart while," he told me gruffly. "When you get plum' over your laugh and feel that you're needin' a little sashay over the hills f'r exercise, you can come along with me and go to jail f'r stealin' that railroad car."

The Hold-Up.

Beasley left me sitting on the doorstep—I've a notion he had run out of handcuffs, else he might have clapped a pair of them on me—while he started his posse down to Atropia with the captured raiders and their leader. When he came back we took time, Daddy and I and the big marshal, to size up the damage that had been wrought, and beyond that, to dig into the mystery of the continuous grumbling roar which was still ascending out of the wreck-covered mine shaft.

"Hooray!" He yelled. "Charley Bullerton's Dreened Your Mine for Yel!"

Beasley stayed with us, waiting, as I took it, to get his breakfast before he ran me off to jail, and the three of us fell to work clearing away the fallen timbers and roofing iron, Daddy Hiram leading the attack and being the first to stick his head through what remained of the tangle and hang it over the edge of the shaft's mouth.

"Hooray!" he yelled, his voice sounding as if it came from the inside of a barrel; and then again, "Hooray, Stannie, son!—by the ghosts of old Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, Charley Bullerton's done gone and done eggs-zac'y what he said he could do—dreened your mine for ye! Climb in here and take a look at her. She's

ANN ARBOR HAS WONDERFUL GROWTH

The following extract taken from the Michigan Investor shows that our sister city, Ann Arbor, made a fine record in 1921 and bids fair to beat that record this year:

"Building operations will be exceptionally active during 1922. The University of Michigan alone has plans for ten or more large buildings and work on the great library structure is already under way. Many new residences will be built. Of six Michigan cities having a population between 10,000 and 25,000, Ann Arbor showed the greatest industrial growth, according to the 1920 census of manufacturers. The statistics show that Ann Arbor shared largely in the great industrial prosperity of Michigan in the period from 1914 to 1919.

"Ann Arbor leads 20 cities of equal size in the United States in the value of real and personal property. Greatest among the works of the Washtenaw road commission, under the engineering management of John J. Cox was the completion of the section of state trunk line road No. 17, lying between Ann Arbor and Jackson. This road is concrete, with an asphalt covering, and is practically all completed, with the exception of about 2,000 feet of splendidly graveled road. More than $1,200,000 was expended on roads in Washtenaw county in the past year. More than 26 miles of graveled roads have been constructed, and 48 miles of pavement have been built.

"Garages outnumbered new residences in the city nearly two to one, according to the permits issued by the engineer. Citizens obtained permits for 148 new dwellings, compared to permits for 273 new garages. Forty-three different construction jobs were undertaken, 13 of which were completed by city forces, with plans designed by the engineer's department. The total cost of all public improvements in 1921 was $129,475.25, all expended under the direction of the board of public works. Two paving projects for 1922 are certain, namely, North state street from Huron street to Fuller street and Packard street from Granger avenue to the city limits. One or two other streets are also considered. On the campus several important changes took place during 1921. The granting of the $5,000,000 appropriation from the state legislature will result in breaking ground in the spring for several new buildings which have been badly needed for many years. The Homeopathic Medical school will be merged with the regular medical school of the university."

Official Statement of the Executive Committee on the New Hotel Project

The Ypsilanti Board of Commerce has organized an Executive Committee of Ypsilanti citizens for the purpose of securing for our city, through the sale of stock, a new and modern hotel, sufficient to meet the needs of our growing community.

The proposed new hotel will be built by the citizens of Ypsilanti and vicinity. It will be a community affair, financed through the sale of stock. The rank and file of citizens will be given an opportunity to purchase stock during the week of March 14th to 21st, inclusive.

The par value of the stock will be $100 per share and the terms of payment will be most liberal. On all subscriptions the subscriber will be allowed nearly twenty months in which to pay for his stock.

The stock will be sold on the principle that it is a safe and practical community investment.

The Executive Committee entrusted with the sale of this stock has studied the rental possibilities of the new hotel and this study leads them to believe that it can be operated through a special Board of the Company, who would employ an experienced hotel manager on a salary. H. L. Stevens & Co., Architects, suggested that, in order to get the greater returns from the hotel, the stockholders of the hotel company operate the hotel and employ a manager and has also agreed to purchase $10,000 worth of stock. It is the firm belief of the committee that, after operation begins, the company will be able to pay a fair dividend on the investment.

The question of the site for the new hotel has been settled and the corner of Pearl and Washington Streets has been optioned and will cost $17,500. It is on the main highway between Detroit and Chicago and also on the Interurban railroad route. The selection of this site is considered wise by business men.

The Executive Committee is of the opinion that the additional dividends which will accrue to this community in the form of by-products will be of even more value to Ypsilanti and vicinity than will be the direct returns. The community will profit by increased property values, city advertising, business of merchants, conventions and tourists. It is believed that the new hotel will assist materially in advancing the good roads program in this vicinity. The new hotel will be a source of community pride and a meeting place for social, fraternal, political and business groups.

The purchase of this stock should appeal to the citizens of Ypsilanti and vicinity, first, because this project is a distinct community enterprise, and all agree that a new and modern hotel will be a very definite benefit to this community, and second, because a fair dividend can be reasonably expected.

H. E. Van de Walker, General Chairman Executive Committee.
